

I am opposed to the LNG Quebec project because it will ruin the collective and individual efforts undertaken by Quebecers from all walks of life, because it would lead to significant growth in Canadian production of hydrocarbons. Natural gas is not a transitional energy. The proponent said gas produced in Canada will be exported to China, for example, to replace coal. However, no contract has been signed between LNG and China and there is no evidence that gas would replace coal. GNL Quebec is a harmful project, without real demand which will only serve to enrich the pockets of the rich American owners, I am therefore opposed to this project.

Sincerely,

Colleen Cranmer
